Project Scope

The Joint Torres Strait Housing and Infrastructure Committee (JTSHIC) was formed in 2000 after the signing of a bilateral agreement between the Australian and Queensland governments to manage infrastructure and housing development in the Torres Strait region.

Black & More has assisted the JTSHIC Committee over a period of more than five years in the development and review of strategic policy and delivery options for JTSHIC.

This assistance has ranged from the development of a strategic plan and Key Performance Indicators to formal reviews of committee performance.

In 2005, Black & More undertook a detailed review of the committee's activities in the context of the Australian Government's new policy initiatives for Indigenous Affairs centered around Regional Partnerships and Shared Responsibility Agreements (SRA's).
